The proposed permit changes the adoption, effective dates for the Construction and Post Construction ordinance adoption to allow adoption in August and effective date in November.

However, the IDDE section still only states an adoption date for the ordinance required under that element. I recommend that DOE state a clear date for the effective date of this ordinance. It may be helpful to municipal governments that the effective date of this ordinance line up with that of the Construction/Post Construction section. In most city and county codes these topics are covered in the same section. It would take less effort ($$ and time) to incorporate all the necessary code changes into a single ordinance with a single adoption and effective date.
